Volunteers of the Merrimack Valley Gas Explosions - You all remember Mr. Rogers, right? Fred Rogers once said, “When I was a boy and I would see scary things in the news, my mother would say to me, “Look for the helpers. You will always find people who are helping.” On September 13, 2018 the Merrimack Valley was rocked with a series of gas explosions that caused fires in over 40 homes in Andover, North Andover and Lawrence. The following hours were filled with confusion, fear and the unknown as people evacuated homes, located family members and found safe havens in hotels as far as 30 miles away. Some were fortunate enough to have friends or family near by but most could not reenter their homes for days, weeks or even months.

The next morning, after the dust settled, a group of bankers did what we knew they would do. They rolled up their sleeves and went out to offer their help. They went to senior centers and local non- profits who were supporting the displaced families, helping to provide the basics of food and shelter and most of all provide answers and short term solutions to what was obviously not going to be a short term problem. This group, led by Jessica Colcord, Jonathan Machado, Therese Leone and many more deserve the recognition of winning this year’s Team of Excellence Award.
